

Lifting Barriers Together for Better Health

Corporate Citizenship

Better health starts right here and it starts with us.

Our approach to corporate citizenship is rooted in that commitment. We create better health for patients and we mirror that commitment by endorsing the health of our employees, our communities and our planet. Together with our customers, employees, partners and key stakeholders, we're lifting barriers and bringing better health to Canadians every day.

Supporting Our Community

Worthy causes and organizations are abundant in the communities where we do business. We help communities across Canada through our donations and sponsorships program.

We focus our support on the following four key pillars where we can have the greatest positive impact in the communities where we operate.

Cancer Care

Creating a healthier world is at the heart of what we do.

We are actively engaged with our local network of hospitals and cancer support organizations to help alleviate some of the stress and burden on individuals affected by cancer. Every year, thousands of employees participate in the Giving Comfort program – a company-wide initiative to prepare customized care packages to patients undergoing cancer treatment.

Mental Health & Wellness

When we think of barriers to health care, most of us think of tangible barriers — like living in remote areas or not being able to afford medication. But some barriers are invisible, such as mental illness.

Our goal is to lift barriers to mental health and empower individuals to reach their fullest mind-body potential.

Diversity & Inclusion

We are dedicated to fostering a workplace environment that respects and acknowledges the diverse world in which we live and work. McKesson Canada employees are from various backgrounds and generate the creativity and vitality that make this company a great place to work.

Our commitment to building an enriched workplace is further echoed by our commitment to support community programs and organizations that strive to support all Canadians from all walks of life.

Environmental Sustainability

Today's most pressing environmental challenges impact all of us, both as individuals and as business leaders.

We endorse non-profit organizations that help secure a healthy planet for generations to come.
